

DISCLAIMER

Everybody hold differing views on matters of economy, life and faith. The opinions expressed in this blog through comments are only the personal views of the authors and do not necessarily reflect the views of Stefano Denicolai.

COMMENT POLICY

All readers are encouraged to leave comments. We welcome all points of view, provided that the comments are courteous and on-topic. In particular, you may post content freely to this blog, so long as the content is not illegal, obscene, defamatory, threatening, infringing of intellectual property rights, invasive of privacy or otherwise injurious or objectionable. Comments out of this policy will be immediatly declined or removed. Comments with commercial purposes are usually not accepted, unless explicit authorization of the Blog owner.

The owner of this Blog reserves the right to decline or remove posts and comments at any time and in its sole discretion. If you believe that we should remove a post or a comment for any reason, please contact me. Participants on this blog must be fully responsible for everything that they submit in their comments, being aware that all posted comments are in the public domain.

PRIVACY NOTICE

All email addresses, names, or contact information received through email not be shared or sold to anyone outside of University of Pavia, unless required by law or to assist in law enforcement. However you must be aware that everything written in a blog is publically available.

LINKING POLICY

This blog may contain hypertext links to other websites or webpages. This blog does not control or guarantee the accuracy, relevance, timeliness or completeness of information on any other website or webpage. We do not endorse or accept any responsibility for any views expressed or solutions offered on outside sites, or the organisations sponsoring those sites, or the safety of linking to those sites.